150 Attend Meeting Of SC-Belmont Clubs

Nearly 150 members of San Carlos and Belmont service clubs attended the first annual joint service club dinner dance at the Belmont Casino Monday night.

R. G. (Randy) Cathcart, who served as chairman of the Rotary Club-sponsored affair, said today it was "a huge success."

Dean Borba, Stanford yell leader whose home is in San Carlos, served as master of ceremonies following the dinner, entertaining the group with pantomimes and gags, and leading competitive singing. Most of the organizations entered quartets in the competition while those who came unprepared were called on to do impromptu singing en masse.

The BPWC was awarded first place in the contest, with the Kiwanians winning second; the Rotary Club third, and the Soroptimists, fourth.

An 8-year-old dancer, Linda Dangel, gave several songs and dance numbers, accompanied at the piano by her brother, 14-year-old Mike.

Big Game enthusiasm was prevalent, and decorations carried out the idea in California's blue and gold.

"Blue and gold happen to be Rotary Club colors," said Cathcart, who presented his "boss," Henry Nissen, manager of the American Trust Co. of San Carlos, with a consolation bouquet in Stanford's colors of red and white.

Cathcart, president of the Rotary Club, introduced Mrs. Cathcart, and presidents of all the organizations participating, and their wives or husbands. Mayor and Mrs. E. R. Burton of San Carlos and Mayor and Mrs. Bayley Kohlmeier of Belmont were introduced by the chairman, along with Clayton Roberts Jr., president of the San Carlos Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Roberts.

A. C. (Kit) Carlton Jr., president of the Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Carlton, were introduced; Harry E. Humphrey, head of the San Carlos Lions Club, and Mrs. Humphrey; John Cox, president of the 20-30 Club; Mrs. Cutler Brown, head of the Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mr. Brown, and Mrs. Noel Pennington, president of Belmont and San Carlos Soroptimists, and Mr. Pennington.

Following the program the group spent the remainder of the evening in dancing.

Assisting Cathcart on the dinner committee were Lloyd Underwood who took charge of arrangements; Louis Goss, in charge of tickets; Noel Pennington, who provided flowers, and Cutler Brown, who furnished the loud speaker system.

The San Carlos Kiwanis Club was requested to act as sponsoring organization for next year's service club dinner.

Water Plan Told by Mann

A plan by which San Mateo County cities could pipe and sell millions of gallons of water daily for Santa Clara County irrigation has been advocated by George Mann, San Mateo City councilman.

Under his plan, purified water now pumped into the bay from sewage treatment plants would be pumped through a new pipeline to agricultural users in Santa Clara County.

Mann said similar plans were in successful use elsewhere and pointed to Pomona, in Southern California, as an example.

There the city sells water from the sewage plant for irrigation of vast orange groves.

The councilman said it would be up to engineers to determine if the plan were practical, and how much water it would make available to valley orchardists and farmers.

"But I am sure the idea merits close study," Mann declared.

He would not estimate how much water might be saved, but he pointed out that it would be a high percentage of all water used by Peninsula cities.

Double Jeopardy
Plea Denied

Judge Walter Truce of Belmont has overruled a plea of double jeopardy by Atty. Carl W. Anderson, ordering John B. Orecchia, 24, of Palo Alto, to pay a $50 fine and surrender his driver's license for 30 days.

Anderson, representing the Palo Alto youth charged with reckless driving, speeding and failing to heed a police siren, said he would appeal the sentence.

Judge Truce ordered a stay of execution of Orecchia's sentence pending action on the appeal Nov. 25.

Orecchia entered a plea of double jeopardy after Anderson claimed that because of a prior conviction and fine of $150 in San Carlos his client would be placed in jeopardy twice for the same offense.

RC-Owned Dog Wins
Two Titles at Turlock

Mickey Mischief O'Carroll won the titles of winner's dog and best opposite sex at the Turlock Kennel Club Dog Show last weekend. The male Dalmatian dog was bred and raised by Hazel Carroll of Redwood City.

AFTER 50 YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coats are shown listening to the radio in the dining room of their home at 1570 Valota Rd. here just before they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday with a banquet for some 50 members of their family at the Villa Chantier. Last week Mr. Coats also celebrated his 83rd birthday; he was born in 1866 on his father's ranch which stood where Skyline Blvd. and the old La Honda Rd. now intersect. The couple has 12 children and 14 grandchildren, all of whom attended the banquet yesterday.

The Thomas J. Coats of RC Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

On Nov. 8, 1899 Marguerite Brigen and Thomas J. Coats took the train to San Jose where they were married and returned to make their home in Woodside and Redwood City. Now, 50 years later they celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon with some 50 members of their family at a banquet at the Villa Chantier.

On hand to celebrate with them were their 12 children and 14 grandchildren.

Last week marked another special occasion for Mr. Coats who celebrated his 83rd birthday on Wednesday. He was born on Nov. 9, 1866, on a ranch at the spot where the old La Honda Rd. now meets the Skyline Blvd., which just about makes him one of the area's early pioneers.

Mrs. Coats, herself, is not exactly a newcomer to Redwood City or Woodside, as she came here at the age of 10, in 1892 from Switzerland, where she was born. Incidentally she was something of a pioneer at the age of 10 as she came all the way from Switzerland with her two brothers and two sisters and no adult to accompany them. Their mother had died and their father came to settle in California at a ranch in Woodside and then sent for the children, who traveled the entire distance, with tags marked with their destination tied to their coats.

Mr. Coats' father came to California from Missouri in 1852 and settled in Sonoma County. Shortly after the Civil War he moved to the ranch, where his son was born, and worked in the lumber mills of the Woodside area. Another son, John, who with his wife now lives up near the Skyline Blvd., worked for Dr. R. O. Tripp in his historical Woodside Store as a young boy. Both Mr. and Mrs. John Coats and their son and daughter-in-law and children, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Coats and Nancy and Topper of San Mateo were present yesterday.

Thomas Coats recalls attending school in Searsville, which was only a small village then, with two stores, a schoolhouse and a few homes. However the school district covered seven or eight miles and children came from all over the surrounding area to attend. As a young boy he worked in the lumber mills in the area and remembers that the mills were going as late as 1875. Then some 64 years ago he joined the Native Sons of the Golden West chapter here, just missing becoming a charter member by a few months. However he is now the oldest living member and the oldest man in the group.

When Mr. and Mrs. Coats were married they returned to Mrs. Coats' father's farm (he had died a few years before) and made their home there and in 1901 their first son, Eroid, was born. They lived on the ranch until 1909 and during that time four other children, Marguerite (Mrs. Milton Mitchell of San Leandro), Elecia, Seneca and Ransel were also born on the ranch.

In 1909 they moved to Woodside so that the children might attend school, and their next five children, Adeline (Mrs. Carl Valladao of Belmont), Erda (Mrs. Frank Valladao of Redwood City), Woodrow, who now lives in San Bernardino, Thomas and May (Mrs. Donald Cochran of San Bernardino) were born. During that time Mr. Coats held a partnership in the Pioneer Hotel for a brief period and worked for such Woodside residents as Mortimer Fleishacker, James Huddart and Mrs. Selah Chamberlain. Incidentally he still is working for Mrs. Chamberlain, some three days out of each week.

The family home during the last years has been at 1870 Valota Rd. However, when they first moved to Redwood City the family lived on Elm St. and for a while Mr. Coats was employed with Frank's Tannery. Their two youngest sons, Calvin and Randolph were born in Redwood City.

All the Coats children attended Sequoia High School and two of their grandchildren, Joan Valladao and Marjorie Coats, are students there today.

Mr. Coats recalls the days when the creek came up to Broadway and the ships docked at the end of the street. When he was a rancher in La Honda he would make a trip to Redwood City each Friday bringing in butter, eggs and honey from the ranch to sell here and taking back with him supplies for the week.

As for entertainment in those days at the turn of the century, when the nearest neighbor was two miles away, neighbors would take turns giving parties and Mr. Coats recalls the Sunday barbecue which he and his wife gave for some 50 friends and neighbors to celebrate his 40th birthday.

On hand yesterday to help celebrate the Coats' wedding anniversary and to recall the old times here were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Eroid Coats and their son, Donald Coats, and their son, Milton B. Mitchell of San Leandro; Mr. and Mrs. Seneca Coats and their daughter, Marjorie from Palo Alto; Mr. and Mrs. Ransel Coats and children, William, Thomas, Claudette and Gary from Woodside; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Valladao and Mr. Valladao's children by a former marriage, Robert Valladao of Belmont and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nerli and daughter Paulette from El Granada; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valladao and children, Joan, Betty and Jerry from Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Coats and sons, Allan and Ronald from Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coats and daughter, Joyal, from Redwood City; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cochran and daughter, Donna May, from San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coats from Redwood City, and Elecia and Randolph Coats, who make their home with their parents.

Also present were Mrs. Coats' sister, Mrs. Alice Fraser of Woodside and her sister, Mrs. Lea B. Strawn of San Francisco.

Among the gifts which the couple received yesterday were a tray decorated with pictures of the entire family, made by Woodrow Coats. The children also presented Mrs. Coats with an orchid corsage in honor of the occasion.

Despite the fact that only a few couples celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary together, Mr. and Mrs. Coats took the entire affair quite calmly. When asked what they did to remain together 50 years, Mr. Coats said, "Help each other and stick together and work together."

SC Defends City Manager Government

The San Carlos City Council pointed out this week that it has not been asked by petition to submit the city manager form of government to the voters for approval.

The council's stand was taken in an answer filed in superior court to the petition of the City Civil Service Commission for a court order calling for such an election.

Mayor E. R. Burton admitted that the civil service ordinance and its amendment were voted by the citizens of the city, and also that the council has failed to establish a civil service fund. However, all claims of expenditures are cleared through the city treasurer, he contended, and all moneys are raised by a general tax.

Burton maintained that the civil service ordinance exempts the city manager from civil service, adding the manager has a right to non-civil service secretary.

The city council has no duty upon it to place either the city manager or tax collector ordinances on a referendum ballot, Burton's answer stated, since no petition for such an election has been circulated in the city.

The Civil Service Commission is contending that the council by its own vote is overriding the will of the people, who had voted in the civil service ordinance. The council established the city manager form of government.

Seek New Rec Facilities At SM Point

A 15-point improvement program for recreation facilities at Coyote Point has been proposed this week by the East San Mateo Improvement Club.

In letters sent to the San Mateo City Council, county supervisors, county and city recreation commissions, county executives, Burlingame Council and county engineer, the club pointed out that increasing numbers of residents were using the point as a recreation spot.

Many improvements are needed immediately, the group asserted, to make the facilities adequate from both a recreation standpoint and in the matter of sanitation.

Among the improvements recommended by the club was the prohibiting of parking on any roads in the area and grading of the hill area to provide parking space for users of the municipal golf course.

Other points suggested by the club include:

1. Use fill dirt from hill cut to provide new beach parking area.
2. Close sandy beach to parking.
3. Install playgrounds in the area between the Coyote Point housing project and parking area on the beach site.
4. Install another adequate restroom building.
5. Put in ramps and lights for boat berths.
6. Install a short breakwater for the yacht harbor.
7. Place entrance lights at the yacht harbor.
8. Install adequate water service to the entire area.
9. Add several barbecue pits in the south wooded section.

The improvement club listed several organizations endorsing its improvement program. These include the Burlingame Lions Club, San Mateo Eagles, Coyote Point Yacht Club, Peninsula Speedboat Owners Club, San Francisco Viking Ski Club, Aqua de Arte Ski Club, Oweenec Council Pochahontas and San Mateo Lions Club.

Air Reserve Unit Enlisting Members

H. P. Little, 681 Upland Rd., Redwood City, today invited air corps reserve members to join the 9365th Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron. Little, who is in command of the squadron, is a captain in the Honolulu operations of United Air Lines.

Membership in the squadron is open to all air corps reserve members, Captain Little pointed out. The squadron meets each Monday at 8 p.m. at 215 Hamilton Ave., Palo Alto.

Pair Swept Into Ocean After Wading at Beach South of Half Moon Bay

A Belmont man and woman were swept to their deaths in the ocean south of Half Moon Bay Sunday evening before the eyes of more than a score of on-lookers.

The sheriff's office today was checking on the theory that the deaths may have been due to a suicide pact, but favored the accidental drowning theory.

The victims are Mrs. Myrtle M. Porter, 47, and Edmund G. Yelle, 50, both of 1817 Bayview Ave., Belmont.

A helicopter search failed to locate the bodies of the man and woman in the ocean off Martin's Beach, seven miles south of Half Moon Bay.

Dep. Sheriff James Beatty reported that the tragedy occurred shortly after the couple had dined at Martin's, and then walked to the beach.

Ed Watts, owner of the restaurant, and others there watched the couple wade into the ocean. The woman first was swept off her feet, and as Yelle reached to help her a large wave broke over them, washing them out to sea.

Watts and the others ran from the cafe, and reported that they caught sight of the bodies far off shore. The bodies disappeared out of sight in the dusk.

Mrs. Porter was the wife of James V. Porter, an engineer now in Karachi, India, testing airplanes for the U. S. Government. She also was the mother of James Porter Jr., a guard at San Quentin.

Neighbors reported that Mrs. Porter, who was a nurse at a Belmont sanatorium, had been in ill health and recently had undergone an operation.

Yelle's family stated that he also may have been depressed, since before World War II he had suffered from tuberculosis. Yelle's family stated that he boarded at Mrs. Porter's home, having met her in the sanatorium, where he also had been working as male nurse.

Yelle, former operator of a San Francisco cleaning establishment, was in the news last January when his common-law wife, Mrs. Helen M. Saunders committed suicide. She took poison at their home, 229 South El Dorado St., San Mateo, and died enroute to Mills Memorial Hospital.

After Mrs. Saunders' death Yelle went to live with his father, Peter Yelle, at 2 Bayswater Ave., Burlingame. He moved out at the end of June.

Yelle was a veteran of both wars. During World War II he served in the navy both in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters as a nurse.

Survivors include his father and his stepmother, a former wife, Mrs. Donna Yelle, who was divorced 12 years ago and now lives in Missoula, Mont.; two brothers, Walter Yelle, 211 Florida St., San Bruno, and Peter Yelle Jr., Glen Ellen; and two sisters, Mrs. Roy Keeling, Stockton, and Mrs. Edna F. Sutherland, San Francisco.

The sheriff's office found the car that Yelle had been driving. It still was registered to Mrs. Saunders, with whom he had lived for six months, and contained a number of cans of beer and part of a bottle of whisky.

Yelle's family said that they first knew that Yelle was living in the Belmont house about three weeks ago. They had not seen Yelle for the past week.

Belmont Police Probe Burglaries

Belmont police this week were investigating the third burglary in the Belmont area within as many days after theft of 11 sets of automobile keys were taken from the Belmont Motor Co., 1200 El Camino Real, sometime over the weekend.

Only last Friday burglars entered the American Cleaners plant on Harbor Blvd. and the Sem Products Co. on Old County Rd., netting several hundred dollars worth of clothing and $3 in cash.

The latest burglary was reported by Scott E. Shaw of San Carlos, partner in the motor business, who discovered a broken window about 10 a.m. Sunday.

Police said entry was gained by smashing a small window near an inside latch. The keys were taken from a filing case, according to the report by Sgt. James Lyall and Officer Daniel J. McNeil.

HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATOR—Max E. Gerfen (above), the recently appointed administrator for the Sequoia Dist. hospital, was a visitor in Redwood City last week. Gerfen, who will take over his post Jan. 21, came here from Johnstown, Pa., where he has been employed in similar work. He will move West with his family in two months.

Five Injured In Accidents

A San Mateo woman who suffered a possible skull fracture was one of the five persons injured during the weekend in accidents in San Mateo County.

Mrs. Bernice Hood, 52, 715 28th Ave., was hurt Saturday night when the car in which she was riding crashed head-on into a concrete bridge on Kings Mountain Rd. west of Woodside. She is in Community Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the driver, Franklin Hood, 39, a musician, swerved his car to the shoulder of the road to avoid a head-on collision with an oncoming car which was on the wrong side of the road. Hood's car crashed into the bridge.

Four persons suffered minor injuries, also Saturday evening, in a four-car rear-end collision on Bayshore Hwy. at Fifth Ave., Redwood City. The accident occurred when Clement M. Craig, 34, Rt. 3, Redwood City, stopped his car to allow another vehicle to make left turn in front of him.

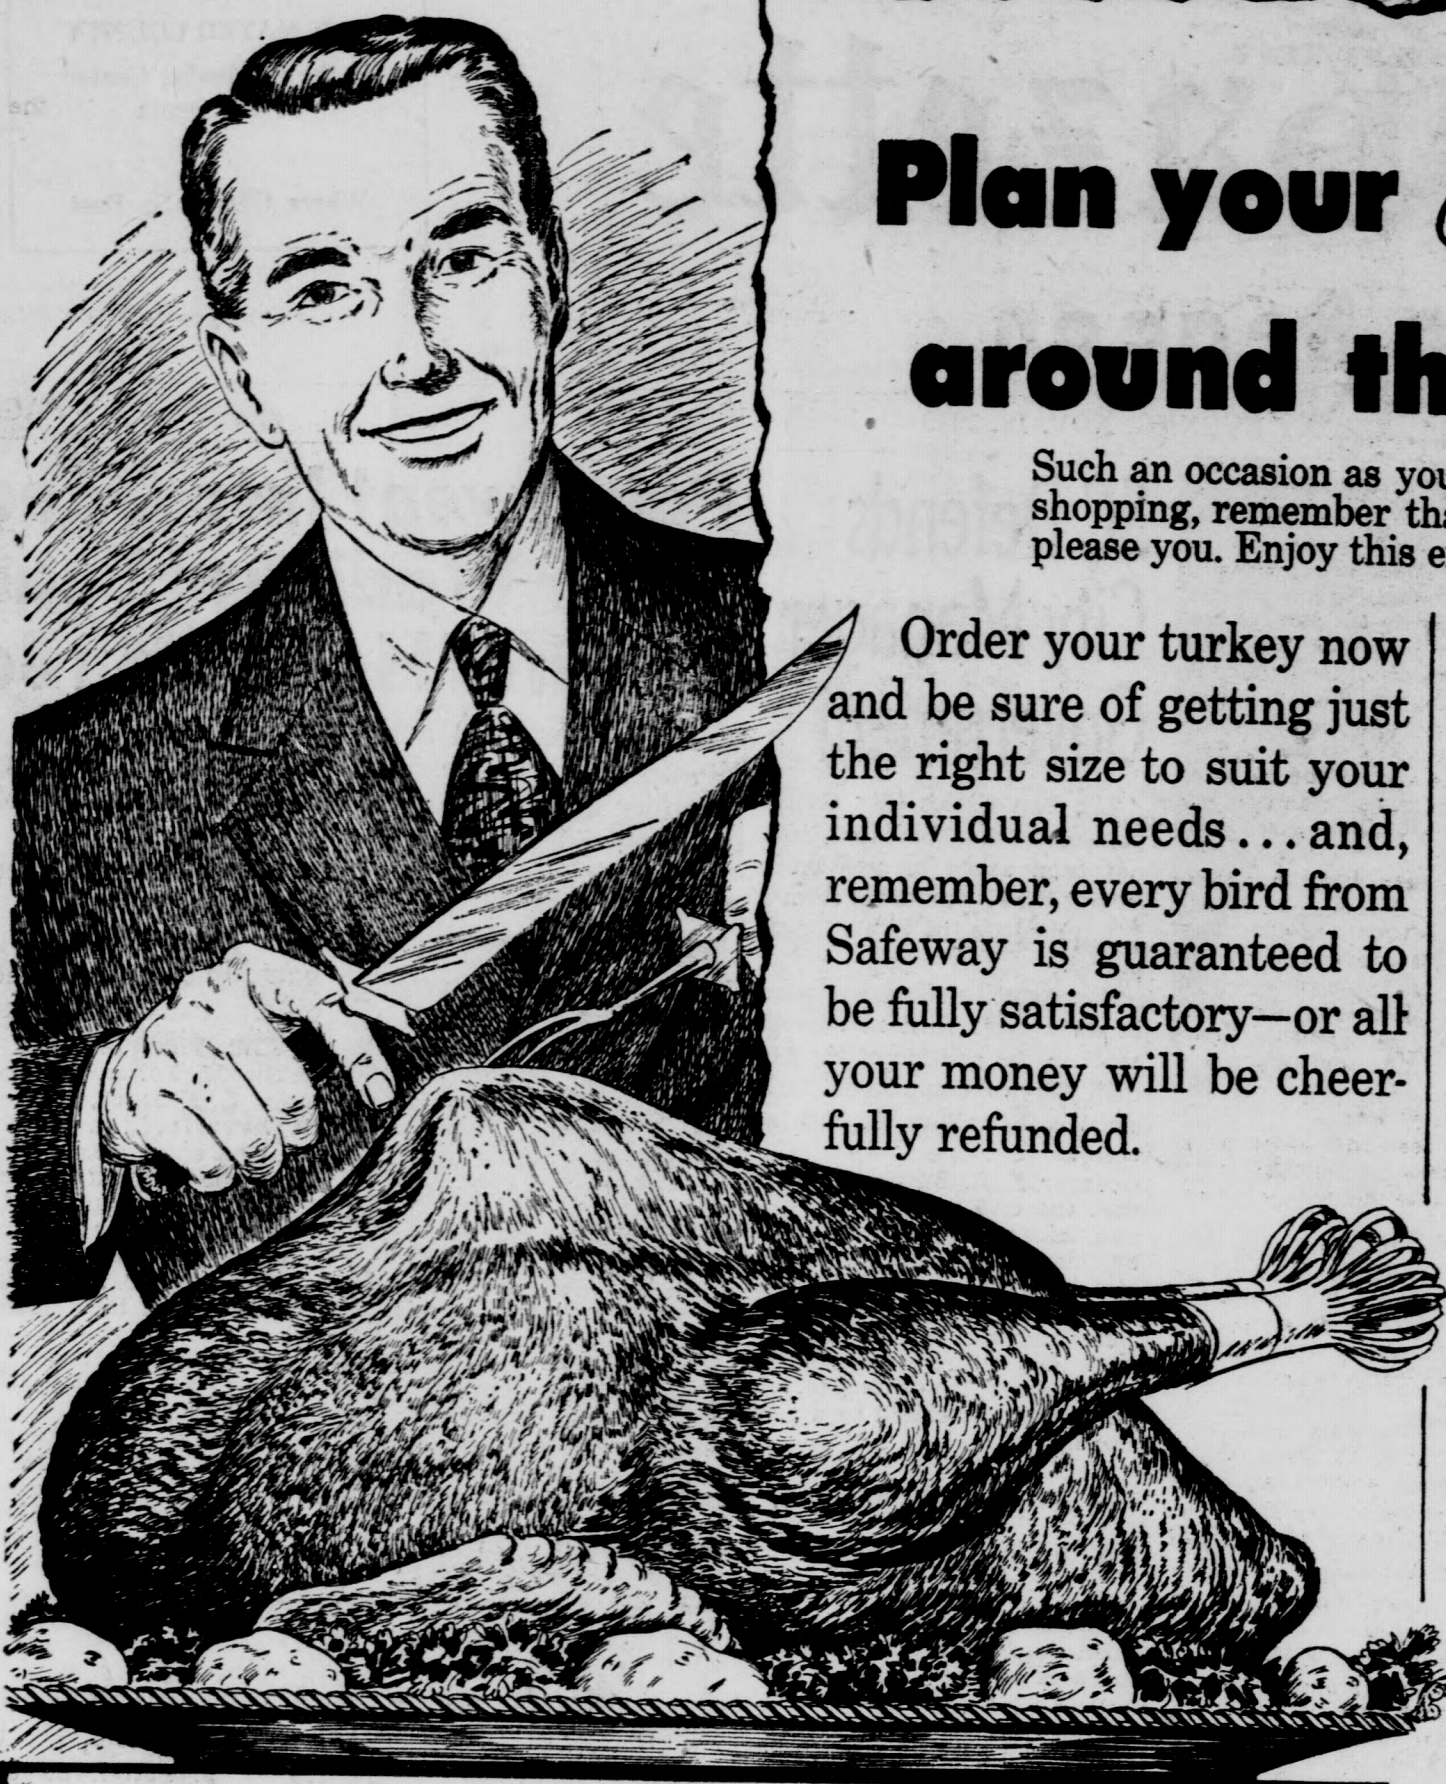

The drivers of the other cars involved in the accident were Robert A. Hayes, 19, 1641 Robin Whipple Way, Belmont; James C. Colley, 30, San Francisco; and Clarence R. Patnude, 29, San Jose.

Those injured were Colley, Mildard Thorson, 52, Hudson, Wis., Dolores Stephen, 19, San Jose; and Clara Patnude, 21, San Jose. They were treated at Community Hospital.

Safeway Stores Consolidate Here

The Safeway Store on Broadway last weekend consolidated with the Safeway Store on Arch St. and Brewster Ave., because the Broadway store lease has expired. A new store site is currently being sought, according to Richard L. Spencer of the San Francisco office.

Mgr. Abe Harris of the Broadway store is now at the Arch and Brewster store, and Joe Schok, chief meat cutter in the Broadway store, is temporary manager of the Arch and Brewster store's meat market. John Ball is manager of the Arch and Brewster store.

KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVERS — An ambulance driver and a California Highway Patrol man look over the body of William McConnell, 72-year-old Redwood City handyman, who was killed on Bayshore Hwy. near Belle Haven underpass recently when he was hit three times by automobiles. The CHP reported that although the driver of the first car to hit him stopped and sought to give aid, two other automobiles raced by and struck him. Neither of the others stopped.

Wee Willie McConnell Victim of Hit Run Cars

Peninsula police departments have been seeking the drivers of two cars which Tuesday night ran over and killed a 72-year-old Redwood City man after he had been injured on Bayshore Hwy.

The traffic victim, San Mateo County's 45th traffic fatality of the year, is William McConnell, an odd jobs man who was known up and down the Peninsula as "Wee Willie."

Mr. McConnell was crossing Bayshore Hwy. 200 yards south of the Belle Haven Railroad underpass and walked into the side of a car driven by Edward Roth, 32, 1220 Academy Rd., Belmont, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Roth stopped his car, got out and ran to help the aged man, who was struggling to get up from the highway.

As Roth ran to Mr. McConnell's aid, a southbound car struck Mr. McConnell, knocking him 20 feet along the highway. The car almost hit Roth also, highway patrolmen said. While Roth watched horrified, a second car ran over Mr. McConnell's body, which had landed crossways to the line of traffic.

Neither car stopped. Police stopped two cars a few minutes after the accident which looked as though they might have been involved in accidents, but the drivers were cleared.

Mr. McConnell for the past five years had lived at the Buckley auto wreckers yard, 2900 Middlefield Rd. The proprietor, Charles Buckley, said that he saw Mr. McConnell about 5 p.m. Friday, when the aged man told him he was going to get a cup of coffee. The accident occurred about 40 minutes later.

Witnesses said that Mr. McConnell was crossing the highway from east to west, with his head down, and carrying the gunnysack in which he stored bottles and articles he picked up along the highway.

Highway patrolmen said that Roth was not at fault in the accident, since Mr. McConnell not only walked into the side of his car, but Roth did all he could to help after the accident.

Mr. McConnell met his death by the instrument he apparently always had feared.

Buckley said that Mr. O'Connell never would ride in a car or any other motor vehicle.

He worked along the Bayshore side of the Peninsula from Palo Alto to San Francisco, and he always walked to his jobs. Some days he would walk as much as 35 miles, searching for discarded automobile parts which he could sell for a few cents.

Buckley said that Mr. McConnell was very independent, and refused to accept help from anyone. He seldom talked about himself, and even his closest associates knew little of his back history. Before he moved into Buckley's wrecking yard, Mr. McConnell had lived in a shack in the Belle Haven area, but he was moved out to make room for a house construction program. He was believed to have been a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

A year ago the sheriff's office was called to the wrecking yard because of complaints that Mr. McConnell was living under unsanitary conditions. The deputies found that everything in the trailer was arranged neatly, and that work clothing was hanging on the line after having been washed. Buckley said Mr. McConnell was very neat and kept himself clean.

Buckley provided Mr. McConnell a trailer in which the aged man made his home.

Funeral services are pending at the Layng & Timney Mortuary.

Belmont Checks Hit-Run Collision

Belmont police today were investigating a hit-run accident which this week left a parked car with an undetermined amount of damage.

Chief O. Walter Lindholm said that his office had not yet received a complete report. The incident was reported by Officer William Smith to have taken place in front of the Peter Nulite home at 1617 Manzanita Dr. The police were seeking a dark blue, "fairly new" automobile which struck a station wagon at the side of Manzanita Dr. Two men, Smith said, were reported to have been in the hit-run automobile.

Man Meets Sign Comes Out 2nd Best

A 30-year-old South San Francisco coast guardsman was a sadder, but presumably, wiser man today—after a freak accident late Saturday convinced him of the wisdom of driving with both hands on the wheel.

South San Francisco police said William Douglas, of 117 Independence St., Paulau Village, South San Francisco, who is stationed at the coast guard air station, tangled with an ordinarily harmless "stop for pedestrian in crosswalk" sign, on El Camino Real at Brentwood Dr., South San Francisco, Saturday afternoon.

As a result, Douglas was treated at South San Francisco Hospital for a possible fracture of the left forearm, and transferred to the U. S. Marine Hospital, San Francisco.

Police said they had a hard time believing their own report, but here is what happened:

Douglas said he was driving south on El Camino Real, in the fast lane of traffic, with his left arm hanging out the window, his arm struck the metal sign in the pedestrian crosswalk, knocking it over.

The sign took a minor beating, but that was nothing to what his arm took, according to Douglas.

$104,268 Suit In Pork Poisoning

A South San Mateo County couple filed suit for $104,268 this week, charging that tainted pork had endangered their lives.

The suit was filed in superior court here by Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Fraser, who are suing Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Heeren, operators of the Menalto Red and White Meat Market, and Armour and Co.

The Frasers charged that on May 5 Mrs. Fraser bought a pork loin for $1 and ate it that night. Both of them were infected with trichinella, and maintain their lives constantly are in danger.

A second suit was filed today by Mr. and Mrs. William K. McQuillan of San Mateo against Armour and Co. and the Clara-Mar Cafe, 212 Fifth Ave., San Mateo.

The McQuillans claim that they and their two daughters, Madeline and Pauline, became sick after eating ham at the cafe on Aug. 5. They charged that the ham contained toxic bacteria.

The McQuillans are asking for a total of $10,618.

Camino Camera Club Elects New Officers

New officers were elected last week when the Camino Camera Club held its regular meeting.

Elmo Hayden was chosen president. Others elected to serve with him were Will Merryman, vice president; John Garland, treasurer; Elsie Foley, secretary; Bruce Eshelman, program director; Alex Walker, print director; and Judy Taylor, publicity.

Technique of Acting Class Offered Here

Robert Bettencourt, executive director of El Camino Players announces that as part of the Sequoia Adult Evening School program a class on the Technique of Acting will be given every Tuesday and Thursday from Nov. 15 to Dec. 13. The class will meet in Room 31, Sequoia High School at 8 p.m.

The course will cover bodily action, stage movement, memorization, emotion, imagination, reaction and by-play, and the actor in relation to the play, his part, and the audience. Those enrolled will take part in classroom exercises and performances. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Vandals Stage Raid At Flood Park

Vandals recently broke into the concession room at Flood Park and turned on water faucets which caused flooding of the adjoining corporation yard.

County Recreation Dir. Ralph Shaw reported that it was the fourth time this year that the room had been raided. The intruders broke a window to gain entrance and turned on the faucets which ran all night.

Brod Takes Slap At Citizens Charge

City Mgr. Howard W. Brod has echoed Mayor Edward R. Burton's sentiments on a pamphlet distributed by the eight-member "San Carlos Citizens' Committee for Better Government," describing it as a "crank letter" from a "disgruntled former city employee."

Brod's prepared statement: "The scurrilous pamphlet mailed to San Carlos residents and signed by Ex-Engineer Robert Klassen falls in the class of crank letters and has been disposed of accordingly."

"Mr. Klassen is a disgruntled former city employee and his characteristic incompatibility was one of the very reasons for his separation from the service of the city of San Carlos."

"In regard to the current controversy on the tax pamphlet, which is based entirely on political considerations, I repeat that the pamphlet was intended solely to indicate to the taxpayers that we are on the job looking out for their interests and that we are making good progress."

"Due to space limitations these statements are very general and therefore subject to wide interpretation. At the end of the fiscal year it is intended to submit to the city council and the people a detailed, comprehensive report of our activities and progress in which there will be no question of interpretation."

"It has been my policy never to take sides in political issues and this instance will be no exception."

Klassen, who serves as secretary of the citizens' committee, said today that his group was "awaiting further developments" before proceeding with its attempt to obtain "better government."

Asked if his statement could be interpreted to mean "until after the civil service commission suit against the council," Klassen replied that "that will have a bearing on it."

Community Theater Plans Open House

San Carlos Community Theater will hold open house at the San Carlos City Hall Dec. 2 with the production of two one-act plays directed by Viona Duncan, widely known for her little theater work on the Peninsula.

One of the plays was written by Jean Lyons Flynn of 2480 Howard Ave., San Carlos. Her play is titled: "Alexander Proposes."

Theater members taking part in the two plays are:

Mrs. Mildred Kemp, Mrs. Clara Sirex, Miss Edythe Young, Frank Riley, Lucille Monnette, Helen Shamber and Mrs. Billie Bundsen.

They're Saying in San Carlos

Aftermath . . . White Oaks is fairly flooded with photographs of the local young fry who roamed the neighborhood streets trick-or-treating on Halloween. Every costumed trick-or-treater who showed up at the Ted Weems door took home a photograph of himself. Happened to be the one night—Monday—when Ted's band wasn't playing at the St. Francis. The band recently gave Ted a polaroid camera on his birthday—one of those gadgets that takes a picture, turns it out completed one minute

Woodcraft Elects Assembly Officers At Meeting Here

Assembly officers for the coming term were elected at this week's meeting of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, Robinhood Circle 517. Christo Glude and Emily Wallace will be installed as attendant and officer at the next meeting.

Jessie Hann, past district, guardian neighbor; John Hann, captain of the district drill team; Gertrude Barton, inside guardian; and Pearl Lawrence, outside guardian were awarded circle honors. Tilda McNulty received a charter member's gift. Lina Gorse, guardian neighbor, announced that the sewing club will meet at Daisy Bartheaux's, Tuesday. Chairmen are Gertrude Barton, refreshments, and Tilda McNulty, cards.

Captain Hann's district drill team initiated Elouise Campbell as a new member. Hilda Pale and Ann Nelson served refreshments following the meeting. The district drill team met at the home of Gertrude Barton this week for its regular monthly meeting.

Native Sons Win Parade Honors

First honors were brought to Redwood City last week by organizations which participated in a two-hour Armistice Day parade at Sunnyvale.

The drum corps of Redwood Parlor 66, Native Sons of the Golden West, brought home a first-place award and $50. Its majorette, Bonnie Williams, won the best majorette award, a gold trophy.

Bonita Parlor 10, Native Daughters of the Golden West, won first place award in the women's drill team division. The prize was $50.

Robert Wallace and Jack Estes are co-chairmen of the NSGW drum corps, and Margaret Jory is the leader of the NDGW drill team.

later. Ted invited all callers inside, practiced his photography hobby on the lot of 'em.

They're saying THAT the 1950 Chickens' Ball is headed for new heights in success with Norma Orth as production manager. In charge of music for the last two shows, Mrs. Orth brings a wide experience to the job. For several years chairman of La Mascarada—Community Theater project—she directed the staging of the Portola Pageant at last year's celebration. A charter member of the Community Theater, Mrs. Orth organized the first orchestra and choral of that group. . . . And of course everyone who heard the "Gusto Girls" at former performances of the Chickens' Ball remembers that delightfully mad trio of which Norma Orth was a member.

Recent guests at Gover Oaks home of the Roy Govers—were Mrs. Helen Adkins of Long Beach, and Mrs. Gover's niece, Mrs. John Denise and Mr. Denise who stopped on their way home to Ft. Collins, Colo., from a vacation in the Northwest.

Many callers have been dropping in at the new home of the W. T. Martins whose house at Carmelita and Cordilleras has just been completed. The Dean McHans and Spence Bendles were surprise housewarming guests one evening.

Lois Brown and Chloe Tennant were visitors recently at the San Mateo County Juvenile Home in order to study how best the BPWC may help serve the needs of children there.

Mrs. Robert Marskey was the honored guest at a stork shower given for her by members of her sewing club last week at the home of Mrs. Joseph R. Boudreau on Fairmont Ave. Traditional pink and blue decorations were used. Guests included Mrs. Paul Biber, Mrs. Edward Neal, Mrs. G. Barry, Mrs. Dean McHans, Mrs. William McWhinney, Miss Vera Emerson, Mrs. Clare

Nolan, Mrs. Donald Lindsey, Mrs. Louis Du Fresno, and Mrs. Arthur Roberts.

Mrs. Elwyn Krafft (the former Carolyn Martin) was a guest for a few days last week at the home of her parents, the James Hugh Martins on Eaton Ave. The Kraffts make their home in Stockton.

Buzzing Around Belmont

BY MRS. ROBERT HUNTER

Christine Hanson and her friends were entertained by Cantini the Magician in honor of Christine's birthday at a party held at home on Ponce Ave. recently.

Most fascinating trick for the children was when Cantini made a cake right before their eyes. However when he removed the lid of the cake pan, out jumped a white rabbit, which he presented to Christine, who in turn gave it to their neighbor Diana Robinson. Later in the afternoon the children did have a cake, along with ice cream, which was prepared by Mrs. Hanson.

Present at the party were Yolanda and Michele Berger, Barbara Jones, Tony Cook, Cheryl Jones, Bobby Marshall, Dennis Gough, Janie McDevitt, Karen Smith, Mary De Angelis and Marsha Peek. Christine is the daughter of the Louis Hansons.

Attending the Children's Concert at Burlingame School Auditorium last week were Tony Cook, Ernie Rick, Jerry Ausiello, Jimmy Hare, Jimmy Cline, Paul Kessinger and Mrs. J. E. Hare.

Gathering at the San Juan Blvd. home of the Campbell's to celebrate Neil Campbell's 11th birthday were Sandra and Jimmy Hildebrand, Lou Maxwell, Adrienne Von Hofen, Michael Miles, Joan Smith, Bobby Dust and Garry and Dennis Carnicle. Mrs. Roy Carnicle assisted Mrs. Campbell with games and refreshments for the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barker celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with a dinner party at their home on Furlong Ave. recently. Their guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Humbert Costa, Joseph Frazier, Joseph Kelly, Alfred Neff, Bert Griene, Victor Vetel, Gordon Nichol, David Ellis and Merrill Marion.

Belmont children attending the opera "Don Pasquale" at the Burlingame High School Saturday were Carolyn and Michael Jonas, Natalie Franks, Nancy Michael and Steven Sears, Kathleen and Susan Halsey and George Pettit.

Judge Fahey To Resign No. End Post.

Justice of the Peace John J. Fahey announced this week that he is resigning his office effective Jan. 1.

He made his announcement to the board of supervisors, which is to name a successor who will fill out Judge Fahey's term, ending in January, 1951.

Judge Fahey said he is quitting because he has to devote at least four-fifths of his time to his judicial duties, although the job is set up on a part time basis.

"I can't afford it any longer," he declared, adding that he will devote his full time to his private practice.

As justice of the peace in the first township, Judge Fahey received $4200 a year. The full-time pay for the post is $7200.

"The board of supervisors should make it a full time post," he continued. "If any court deserves, my court does."

He pointed out that his justice court handles a heavy volume of cases. As an example, he mentioned the recent bridge-bingo trials, the first of which took nearly two weeks, and the second four full court sessions and in which the jury did not return until after midnight.

Judge Fahey said he did not know whom the board would appoint, but said that his associate, Thomas L. Bocci, is interested in the post. Bocci would resign from the law firm if he secured the job, Judge Fahey added.

Whoever gets the post will have to run for reelection next June if he wishes to succeed himself in office.

Fahey, a native of Colma and a member of a pioneer San Mateo County family, has been connected with government since 1929.

"I want to try private life for a change," he said.

Judge Fahey, who lives at 32 Edgeworth St., Colma, is 42. He is the exalted ruler of the San Francisco Elks Lodge No. 3, the youngest person to hold the post in one of the largest lodges in the county.

Lincoln PTA Sees Demonstration of Teaching Aids

Allen Tracy of the audio visual department of San Mateo Junior College demonstrated uses of teaching aids at last week's meeting of the Lincoln Parent Teacher Assn. Advantages of strip films, slides, tape recorders and projectors were shown.

Mrs. Albert Ends, president, announced that a Christmas program by the school would take the place of the December PTA meeting. The group will contribute a tree, Santa Claus and candy to the annual potluck dinner to be given for the January meeting.

The bazaar committee gave its financial report, which was approved. A vote of appreciation was given the chairman and her committee for their work.

The friendship lamp was presented to Mrs. A. H. Nicoli, Edward Hamilton, sixth grade teacher, led the flag salute, and C. E. Peterson gave a brief talk.

Mmes. C. F. Sager, John E. Bonner, Leonard Casanova and O. Mackota, Elsie Grant's room mothers, were hostesses.

Garden Club Activities Told to Palomar Park Unit

Mrs. E. G. McGinnis of San Mateo, representing the California State Garden Clubs, spoke on garden club activities at a recent meeting of the Palomar Park Garden Club, held at the home of Mrs. Frank Winters, S. Palomar Dr.

The group viewed new varieties of chrysanthemums and discussed plans for its Christmas House Tour, scheduled for December.

Assisting Mrs. Winters in arrangements were Mrs. J. D. Clarkson and Mrs. Hugo Romander. Guests included Mrs. J. H. Murdoch and Mrs. George W. Raubinger from Redwood City, and Mrs. Anthony Julis from San Carlos.

Members present were Mmes. W. Paul Whaley, W. S. Adams, Walter Wilson, Arthur L. Muth, Arthur W. England, Edwin DeBow, Hugo Romander, W. H. Cloyer, John E. Newman, Frank Winters and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Duggan.

Red Cross in SC Makes Clothing For Navajos

San Carlos production unit of the American Red Cross has completed 84 garments and 40 knitted long-sleeved sweaters made during recent weeks. The articles have been made for the Navajo Indians. The garments, cut and sewn by the Red Cross workers, consist of kelly green cotton flannel shirts and blue jackets for the Indian boys, and navy blue dresses and skirts for the girls. All were size 12 or under.

A large shipment from Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco has gone out to the Lukachukai Boarding School and the Cheule Boarding School through William Barrett, of the Navajo Service Warehouse at Gallup, N. M.

Anyone who would like to help in this work may contact Mrs. Grace Mesler, at SC 1245 for knitting, or Mrs. Emma Fodrea, at SC 1390-J, for sewing.

SC Plans Contest For Yule Decorations

The San Carlos Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a contest again this year for best decorated homes during the Christmas season. Harold Dunn has been named head of the Christmas lighting committee, which will have charge of the contest.

The chamber urges residents to make San Carlos the "most beautiful city on the Peninsula at Christmas time." Merchandise prizes will be given the winners. Three awards each will be given for outdoor display and for indoor decorations visible through windows.

Those who wish to enter the competition should register at the chamber office at 1131 Cherry St.

Members of the Sequoia Medical Auxiliary made plans for a Christmas project at Hillcrest Juvenile Home at their regular meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Thomas Barrett in San Carlos. A movie on baby and child care was shown.

Members present included Mmes. Robert Merritt, Peter Beal, Herman Pepper, William C. Van Devanter, Harold Choje, Thomas Barrett, Charles Respin, Jackson Flanders, Leland Burill, Dewey F. Brown, Harry Mason, Joel Hanson, John Sawin and Alex Weisskopf.

Sgt. Earl Peterson Stationed in Japan

Sgt. Earl W. Peterson, Redwood City soldier now serving with the 3rd Engineers (C) Bn of the 24th Infantry Division of Kyushu, Japan, successfully passed the military training tests recently.

The tests consisted of such varied subjects as map reading, weapon firing, physical training, drill, military courtesy and tent pitching.

Sergeant Peterson is the brother of Mrs. J. J. Oliver of 57 Emerson St. Prior to entering the army in August, 1948, he was employed by the San Carlos Sheet-metal Works.

Propose Bridge Along SM Span

A new twin bridge for San Francisco Bay—alongside the San Mateo-Hayward span—was advocated this week by Frank Marsh, executive secretary of the influential Bay Area council.

Such a proposal would have far reaching implications for the Peninsula and Marsh said "from a development standpoint it would be of more value than the southern crossing or the San Francisco twin bridge."

He pointed to the rapid development of both the Peninsula on the west side of the Bay and Southern Alameda County on the east. Increasing the capacity of the San Mateo bridge, Marsh said, would speed that development.

These were the main points of Marsh's proposal:

1. The bridge, a level, seven mile long span, could be widened—or a twin built—speedily and at low cost.
2. The legislature at the last session passed an act enabling the state toll bridge authority to take over the San Mateo Bridge and the Dumbarton bridge, farther south near Palo Alto.
3. A modernized San Mateo bridge should be integrated with the Bay Area freeway system. It would divert some traffic from the San Francisco-Oakland bridge, though that is not the main consideration.

Marsh's proposal came in the midst of continuing controversy over whether construction of a twin to the San Francisco-Oakland bridge should be built, or a tube truss crossing farther south, as advocated in the army-navy report.
